

Who are CLL Support Champions?

They are a network of members who volunteer to help to promote the Charity and its work.

What do they do?

They:

- Help and support the Trustees in the achievement of the Charity's goals and objectives.
- Promote knowledge and awareness of the Charity within GP surgeries and Clinics.
- Ensure CLL Support information leaflets and booklets are available in surgeries and clinics.
- May help in organizing or participate in the CLL Support conferences - say as a patient speaker.
- May be asked to attend a meeting to represent the Charity or the Trustees.

CLL Support is a registered Charity No: 1178482

Could you be one of our Champions?

CLL Support Champions can also:

- help to raise funds
- support the Helpline.
- lobby Governmental representatives and media as part of CLL Support initiative
- help to set up and run patient support groups
- join the Buddy Scheme

Each Champion is focussed on a role, and it should not take up a lot of your time but will have a great impact on the work we do.

How are CLL Support Champions supported?

- A Trustee is appointed with the responsibility for the support of the Champions Network.
- CLL Support leaflets and other information will be supplied for distribution within surgeries and clinics.
- Support will also be provided to those who agree to speak at conferences or attend meetings to represent the Charity.
- Briefing papers will be available for lobbying campaigns.
- Promotional material is available for fund raising activities and if Corporate fundraising - a Trustee would provide support.
- Training can be made available for Helpline or Buddy support roles.

The Champions Network of volunteers is key to the success of CLL Support and its objective of reaching out to, and helping, as many of those in the U.K. affected by CLL and SLL and their supporters as possible.

Success in growing our membership numbers is dependent on those diagnosed with CLL/SLL having knowledge of the Charity and how we can help them live well with CLL/SLL.

A larger membership base is key to increasing our impact on the conversations about CLL and treatment within the U.K.
